

Tagajo High School “Fieldwork for Disaster Prevention and Reduction”

In July this year, we joined “Tagajo and Shichigahama Fieldwork in Miyagi. On 2011, the Great East Japan Earthquake occurred. We learned about reconstruction in Tagajo and Shichigahama in Miyagi because there was big damage by the earthquake.

At disaster prevention activities, they check evacuation route and do evacuation drill. In the drill, Shichigahama town uses “Tsunami flag “and call caution for local people when Tsunami alarm announcement. In Tagajo, elevated roads are being constructed so that vehicles and pedestrians can evacuate.

I think we should prepare for the disasters and also pass on the lessons we had in 2011 to others and next generation.
